ClearCadence
Process, Improved.

Your Trusted Consulting Partner

ClearCadence provides consulting and delivery of solutions that specialize in process automation, digitizing content and assets, and integrating with mission critical systems

We are a trusted guide on your journey.
We truly understand what's at stake.

Who We Are & What We Do

Headquartered in Tampa, Florida, ClearCadence provides services throughout North America. Members of the ClearCadence senior management team have held executive or senior management positions at leading BPM, ECM and Integration software companies. ClearCadence has a solid history of satisfying customers and performing successful implementations and is staffed with the best and brightest in the industry.

Automate – Data capture and end-to-end business process workflows.

Digitize – Paper, electronic documents, source feeds, and data from back-end applications become content managed under an enterprise system.

Integrate – With any mission critical systems such as ERP, CRM and Procure-to-Pay solutions.
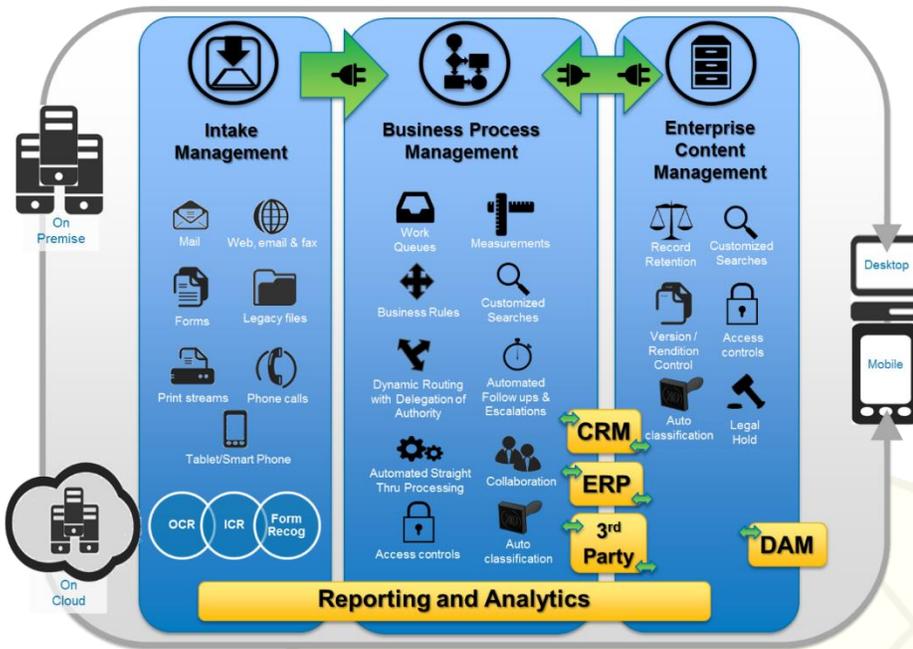

How We Do It

ClearCadence works with customers both big and small to help them automate their business processes. We first define what the business processes are, identify how they should be measured, improve the workflows, and determine the information that is most important to the user.

Once the business processes are clear, we then design and develop a system that supports that process. Related to the automation, ClearCadence also looks at digitizing the business assets of a company such as paper, electronic files, feeds from other applications or external business partners, emails, faxes and more.

Alfresco™

Not only do we look at moving these into a digital format (if not already done), we then use appropriate metadata for user searches and apply record retention rules that apply to the business.

Once those assets are in a digital format, we utilize them to capture key data, move them through an automated workflow, redact some information for privacy and integrate the content with necessary systems.

That association of the content with systems is part of our integration specialization. A company's mission-critical systems need to interoperate with the company's assets. This means taking captured data and feeding it to systems seamlessly versus manually keying by hand and to provide relatable content for displaying in a separate application. By integrating enterprise content with business systems, companies achieve a true end-to-end cycle and gives them a clear picture of how they are performing.

Our Experience

ClearCadence works with our customers to develop competitive advantages by leveraging key Capture, Content, and Process-based technology. Our team is led by the industries most experienced professionals which allow us to confidently recommend and produce the most effective combination of technologies to provide optimum solutions that solve your content and business process challenges. Whatever the nature of your business, the size of your company or the scope of your IT requirements, ClearCadence offers the professional skills and resources to empower your business to communicate, compete, and succeed in a rapidly changing world.

The ClearCadence team closely aligns our practice with Alfresco. We believe Alfresco is an industry leader, a best of breed platform, and open-source friendly allowing our customers to bring their business into the digital era. ClearCadence is an innovator and develops our own solutions on the Alfresco Digital Platform positioning ClearCadence as a leader in the marketplace. We have numerous solution accelerators commercially available for commonly used BPM/ECM processes which can be deployed rapidly to help our customers attain a quick return on their investment.

Why ClearCadence?

ClearCadence has the experience and resources necessary to help your customers get the most out of their Alfresco investment or to help them realize that Alfresco is the right investment. We offer the right combination of the industry's top consultants and solutions to help any business meet their immediate and strategic objectives.

ClearCadence Professional Services deliver:

- Expert consultants who truly understand business process, integration, and technology challenges in your industry
- A structured delivery methodology that ensures a successful implementation, on-time and on-budget
- 100% client satisfaction

ClearCadence is committed to your success and to building a long-lasting relationship. Let our team help you take full advantage of BPM disciplines and technology by analyzing your business and system processes, identifying your strategic goals and business challenges, and transforming them into efficient, digital solutions.

For more information on how ClearCadence can help you, please contact us:
Sales@ClearCadence.com or call us (813) 659-5405
www.ClearCadence.com

ClearCadence
Process, Improved.